

WHAT TYPE OF MAN DO YOU WANT FOR COMMISSIONER?

A man well versed in the affairs of Knoxville—a property owner—a business man who understands, appreciates and knows how to solve the business problems that confront his fellow men

I AM THAT MAN

A man who, if he should be elected to take charge of your streets would perform his duties as efficiently as if he were in charge of the finances or should it fall to his lot to look after the Department of Public Safety, would render equally satisfactory service to that which could be given as Commissioner of Parks and Public Buildings.

I AM THAT MAN

A man who, while never having held a city office, has back of him a record of more than twenty-five years as a successful merchant and four years in managing properly the affairs of the office of Trustee of Knox County.

I AM THAT MAN

A man who would not seek the office unless he had in mind a service to be rendered his city, and who would appreciate the honor should your vote elect him, and show his appreciation by performing the duties called for, the same as if he was conducting a business of his own.

I AM THAT MAN

AND, IF THIS IS THE TYPE OF MAN YOU WANT, THEN VOTE FOR ME FOR COMMISSIONER OF THE CITY OF KNOXVILLE, in the primary to be held Sept. 6th, so as to insure your doing this again on Sept. 20th.

Sincerely and gratefully yours,

BEGIN PROFIT-SHARING PLAN

Willis-Overland Company Distributes Large Sum Among Its Employees—Arrangements for Future.

More than 15,000 Willis-Overland company, Toledo, Ohio, employees received $400,000 in the company's first distribution of the profits under the 50-50 profit sharing plan announced last January.

The profit-sharing plan is limited to employees who have been six months in continuous service. The employees sharing represent 9,843 at the Toledo plant, and the others are scattered throughout the United States, notably at Elyria, Ohio and Elmira, N. Y.

The $400,000 represents 8 per cent of the wages paid during the first quarter of the year, except that no employees receive less than 4 1/2 cents for each hour worked during this period.

Permanent capital will not include good will, patents, trade marks, etc., but only the net book value of the assets of the company. The value was fixed at $7,068,282.

In working out the J. N. Willis 50-50 plan the company will set aside from each income account 3 per cent of the invested capital for deterioration, 1 per cent for a rainy day, and 7 1/2 per cent for a just return to permanent capital.

ATTRACTIVE HOME FOR SMALL FAMILY

White Bungalow Is Very Artistic in Design.

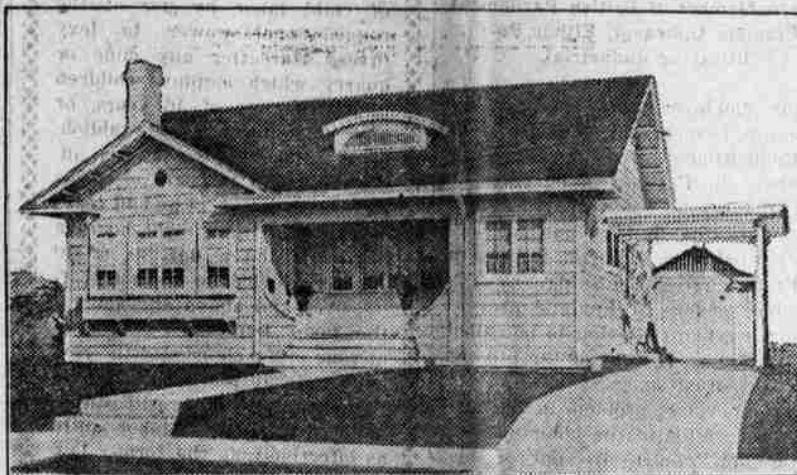

HAS UNIQUE ARRANGEMENT

Placing of Rooms Is Convenient and Building Presents Fine Appearance—Plans Can Easily Be Altered to Suit Ideas of Builder.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Since hostilities in Europe ceased and the restrictions that were imposed on building during the war have been removed there have been planned many thousands of homes that will be erected this year. Designs for these homes are as varied as are the individual tastes of the owners. However, there is one type of house that is exceptionally popular. That is the bungalow.

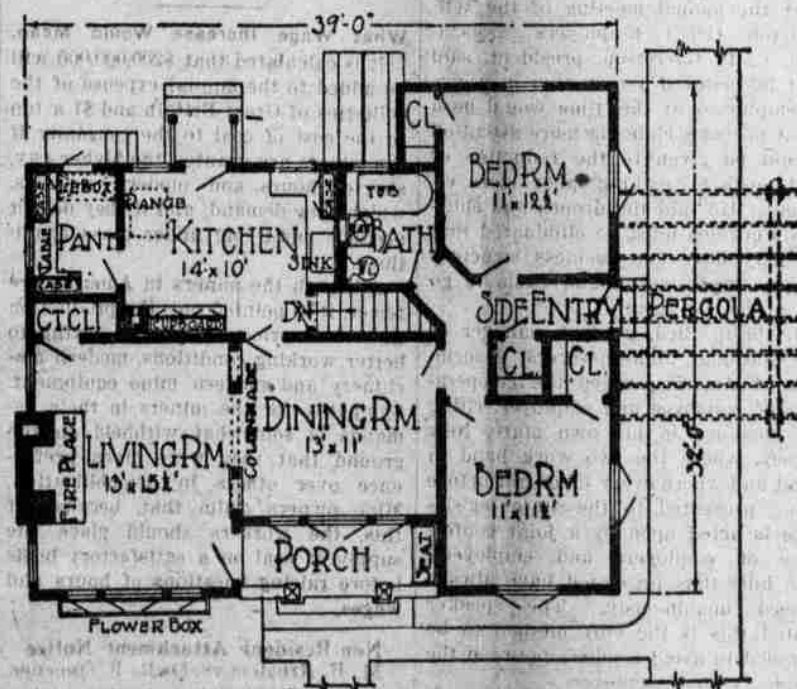

The advantages of a bungalow—that is the house that has all of its rooms on one floor—are so numerous that they explain the popularity of this architectural design. These houses, planned to contain four, five or six rooms usually, are ideal for small families. Architects, too, have designed them so that they present an attractive exterior appearance and give a great deal of satisfaction to the owner.

Illustrated herewith is a fine sample of bungalow designing. This white bungalow of wood construction has a convenient room arrangement and presents a fine appearance. Ranged across the front are living, dining and bedroom, while at the rear is another bedroom, separated from the kitchen by the bathroom.

The porch set into the house is unusual, while the pergola at the side is an artistic addition to the house. The dimensions of this bungalow are 33 by 32 feet. The entrance at the end of the porch leads into the living room, which is 13 by 15 feet 6 inches. In the exterior wall is a fireplace, on either side of which are windows. Four windows are provided in the front of the room. The dining room is 13 by 11 feet and has a colonnade between it and the living room, which makes it a light and attractive room. Adjoining the dining room at the corner is a bedroom, 11 by 11 feet 6 inches. Back of it, also on a corner, is a second bedroom. Between this room and the kitchen, which is also a corner room, is the bathroom.

The kitchen is a fine, large room, its dimensions being 14 by 10 feet. A good-sized pantry with an ice box that can be filled from the rear porch is at one end of the kitchen, while in it are the sink and will case. It also will be noted that numerous closets have been provided, one of them being in the side entry.

The basement is planned to be the full size of the house. This is an important feature of a bungalow, as it provides the storage room for the family. By dividing the basement into rooms with partitions extending to the ceiling, places for the heating plant, vegetable and fruit storage and for such miscellaneous articles as trunks, garden tools, etc., are provided.

Considered from almost any view, point this design is exceptionally good.

In selecting the design for a home, great care should be exercised, as few families build more than once. Every need of the family should be carefully considered before the contract is let, and then the material specified should be of the best quality. While this entails a little more expense, it pays in the long run, as the upkeep cost will be lower.

Just now home building is uppermost in the minds of all people who have been considering building during the last two years. The government, through the United States department of labor, is urging home building, not only because there is an unusual shortage of places for people to live, but because the work is needed to keep labor fully employed while the industrial activities of the country are being restored to a peace time basis.

While it costs more to build now than it did five years ago, the prices of building materials have not risen in proportion to the costs of other necessities of life. Careful analysis of the situation shows that this increase is about 37 per cent, while the costs of other necessities have risen 100 or more per cent. And this same investigation has disclosed that prices are not liable to come down for several years.

There is a pardonable pride in owning the home in which you live. It makes a better citizen out of every man and woman. It is this fact that will make this country impervious to the social unrest that is sweeping through some of the countries of Europe, students of political economy assert.

It requires thrift for most persons to secure a home. During the war, many learned for the first time the satisfaction that comes from saving. And there is nothing more worth saving for than a home.

Now that the building season is open it is time to consider what sort of a house to build. The design illustrated here is a good one for those who want bungalows. However, it can be changed to suit the ideas of the builder. By consulting with the local contractor or architect, these changes can easily be made. Also it can be learned what such a bungalow will cost by interviewing the lumber dealer and builder.

Securing the money to build a house is a comparatively easy matter, as banks and individual lenders consider improved real estate the best of security. By paying a small proportion of the cost down, the balance can be paid as rent.

Owning a house is the finest investment in the world, and with all the reasons why building should be done now, home building should be popular this year.

Be Gentle in Speech.

We should use great care in selecting our thoughts, and especially our words. For every word stamps itself for good or evil on our bodies and becomes manifest in our lives. The reason why we are not happier or more successful is because we have sown so many obnoxious weeds in the ether about us. They are producing a harvest exactly like themselves. Remember that gentle words are, after all, the most powerful words. They are more convincing, more compelling; and when they are projected into the future they bring health, happiness and success.—Bern Howard in Milwaukee Sentinel.

Adding Insult to Injury.
"What have we here, suspended from a telephone pole?"
"Just an eddy of the former Kaiser."
"Ahem! William used to be proud of his smart uniforms. If he could see the nondescript attire of this figure it would certainly get on his nerves."

WILLIAM B. RICHARDS

Candidate for

City Commissioner

TO MY FRIENDS, CITIZENS, TAX PAYERS AND VOTERS OF KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE:

I take this means to formally announce my candidacy for Commissioner, subject to the non-partisan primary to be held September 6, 1919. I wish to publicly state that I am for a bigger and better Knoxville and am making my race along progressive non-partisan lines. I have no political obligations to fulfill and am for the best interests of the city of Knoxville, and if I am elected I shall discharge the duties of my office without fear or favoritism.

Following is a brief summary of things which I hope to accomplish and which I will favor if elected to office:—

1. I believe in a purely business policy in conducting the affairs of the city.

2. I am absolutely for Civil Service as affecting employees of the city as it is embodied in the present charter. It has been successful for many years in the United States Government and it should be satisfactory to the citizens of Knoxville as a means of protecting efficiency of city employees. While on this subject I wish to state that I am in favor of salaries for the police and fire departments and other city employees which will be sufficient and adequate to meet their additional expenses due to the increased cost of living and also to insure better service. I favor the double platoon system for the fire department. These employees are entitled to reasonable hours for pleasure and recreation which will of itself promote efficiency in the department and make of them better and more loyal public servants.

3. I have lived in the city of Knoxville practically all of my life, and for a number of years have been engaged in the furniture, loan and real estate business, coming in contact daily with the business men and the laboring men of the city. I am confident of my ability to judge of their best interests. Will state in this connection that I have been a practical accountant for the past twelve years.

4. I have all my life, both business and social, been a friend of the laboring man, as my friends will testify.

5. I am for progress and improvements where they are needed. I do not believe in extravagance with the city's funds, but I do believe and am in favor of those improvements that will make of Knoxville a prominent and progressive city and place it in the first list with other successful cities of the South. From the geographical situation of Knoxville, together with its wealth of natural resources far greater than most of the cities of this section of the country, we should take advantage of, and through advertising and other legitimate means, encourage outside capital and proper industries to locate in our city.

6. I am absolutely and unalterably opposed to the management and control of the city's affairs by large corporations and monied interests. I believe, regardless of franchise, regardless of investments involved, that all public service corporations should be compelled to make all necessary and needed improvements in the way of streets, etc., as they are called upon to do by the tax payers and by the City Commission. In other words, let this be a government by the people and not by the corporations.

7. I believe that the tax payers' moneys wisely and judiciously expended in the purchase and equipment and upkeep of parks and playgrounds is a great asset to the city and should be encouraged, and I also believe that these advantages should not be for a favored few, but should accrue also to the poor as well as the rich, the colored as well as the white.

8. I favor good schools and an effective teaching corps. The present school system as it is controlled by political factions deprives the young manhood and young womanhood of our city of the proper and needful educational facilities to which they are entitled. I believe in absolutely divorcing the public school board from politics and from the control by the City Commission. I believe in high salaried teachers who are selected because of their capabilities and not because of personal feeling. This applies to the white schools as well as the colored.

9. I favor the best and most sanitary hospital facilities for whites and colored alike, as the interests and growth of the city demand.

10. I have been called by my friends a Greater Knoxville candidate, as I myself live in Mountain View, and if elected to office will do my utmost to extend to the outlying suburban sections of Greater Knoxville proper and necessary improvements to which they are entitled, such as police and fire protection, city water, gas and electric lights, sewers and better streets.

In going to the polls on September 6th I will ask the voters to kindly bear in mind what my foregoing policies are and what I stand for and what will be always my purpose to fulfill. In politics I am a Democrat, but have voted for many Republicans in local elections. I believe in the best man for the best place regardless of his political affiliations.

During the world war I volunteered my services to my country in the early part of January, 1918, and received my honorable discharge from the army in November of the same year. I do not make this statement for the purpose of arousing patriotism and of the voters of the city, nor do I hope to ride into office by reason of the fact that I served in the army, but merely make this statement for the purpose of showing that in the past I have never yet shirked an obligation which I owed to my country or to my government regardless of whether it be great or small.

I sincerely hope that every voter of the city of Knoxville will pass upon my qualifications solely and alone upon their merits. My life, both as a business man and as a soldier, is open for public inspection.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM B. RICHARDS
